APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 22ND DAY OF JULY, 1913.

EVANS

versus
ROSE.

The following judgment was read:—

Hill J. (Acting): This is an appeal from a decision by a Magistrate convicting the appellant Evans, of larceny of a black barrow, the property of Archibald Rose.

The reasons of appeal are:—

1 (a). Because it has not been found that the defendant took the said barrow animo furandi.
(b.) Because the evidence negatives a felonious taking by the defendant.

(c.) Because it was clearly established on the evidence that defendant caught the barrow under a bona fide claim or colour of right.

(d.) Because the corpus delicti has not been established.

(e.) Because the Magistrate imported into the case knowledge of facts which had been gained by him outside the proceedings in the case, and allowed such knowledge to prejudice his finding.

f. Because the Magistrate could not legally contradict the witness Florence Klass in the manner he has done in order to discredit her evidence.

(g.) Because the Magistrate allowed the disbelief of the witness Florence Klass to prejudice his finding in the case.

2. That the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence in the manner as if the case had been tried by a jury there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict.

(a). For the foregoing reasons:

(b.) On the evidence of the witness E. G. Da Silva for the prosecution, it was shown that the barrow in question was not the property of the complainant.

(c.) Because the evidence clearly established a case of disputed ownership in the said barrow.

Reason 1 (d) was argued first.—I am of opinion that identification was sufficiently proved.

Reasons 1 (e), (f) and (g) were taken together. I can see no reason why the Magistrate should not give the reasons which induced him to disbelieve the evidence of Florence Klass. He could not divest himself of knowledge acquired, it may be, in some other case in which she was concerned, which rendered her evidence unworthy of credence, and if he chose, unnecessarily perhaps, to give his reasons, it cannot alter the fact that he was entitled to reject her evidence.

Reasons 1 (a), (b) and (c) and 2 (b) and (c) are all answered by the Magistrate when he says in his decision: "The defendant, I am satisfied, caught 'the barrow fully intending to steal it, and knowing 'full well it belonged to Rose.' That opinion was one he might reasonably come to on the evidence and the Court will not disturb his decision.

The conviction is affirmed, and the appeal dismissed with costs.

ANDERSON et al

versus

STRICH.

The following Judgment was read:—

Hill J. (Acting): This is an appeal from a decision by a Magistrate convicting the appellants on a charge of indecent assault.

The reasons of appeal are:—

1. (a). That the evidence does not establish that Anderson committed an indecent assault on Jessie, if he was guilty of an offence, he was guilty of one which he was not charged with, to wit, aiding, abetting, counselling, causing or procuring, the commission of the alleged indecent assault.

1. (b). That the statements made by Jessie to the several persons, namely, Mrs. Kyte, Charles Kyte, Joseph Peters, and R. C. Munro, were inadmissible on the ground that the said statements were not complaints but statements or conversations made in answer to questions.

2. That some other specific illegality not hereinbefore mentioned, and substantially affecting the merits of the case has been committed in the course of the proceedings in the case.

(a) That it was not competent for the Magistrate to view the house in which the alleged offence was committed without having informed the defendants or their counsel of his intention to do so.

(b) That there was no proof that the house which, in his reasons for decision he said he saw, is the one where the offence is said to have been committed.

(c) That the conclusion drawn by the Magistrate on such view was based on knowledge or information improperly obtained.

3. That the Magistrate's Court has exceeded its jurisdiction in the case.

(a) Because if the Magistrate believed the evidence of Jessie and her witnesses, then the offence is one of rape and not indecent assault and it was not therefore competent for him to convict.

4. That the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence in like manner as if the case had been tried by a Jury, there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict.

(a) Because the Magistrate in dismissing the charge against Goordath and Ramlall (defendants Nos. 4 and 5) believed the alibi set up by them, which goes to discredit the testimony of Jessie, whose evidence of the alleged indecent assault, stands uncorroborated.

(b) That after the exclusion of the statements made by Jessie to Mrs. Kyte and others as mentioned in paragraph 1 (b) there is not sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict.

With regard to 1 (a), the Summary Jurisdiction of Magistrate's is founded on the Statute book, and it follows that no punishment can be awarded, under this process, to the person who merely advises or promotes the commission of an offence, without some special enactment. Jervis' Act (11 and 12 Vic. C. 43, S. 5) provides this, and has its counterpart in Section 24 of Ordinance 17 of 1893. The effect of this section is to give legal sanction to the principles which are applicable to similar offences dealt with indictably, and to apply the law as laid down. All parties engaged in the participation of an act, and a community of purpose at the time of the commission of the crime are liable as principals, and so is the aider and abettor under section 24.

In misdemeanour all persons who are present and abet the fact may be charged as principals in the first degree, provided the offence permits of a participation, or specially as aiders and abettors. (Reg. v. Crisham. Carrington and Marsham, 187.)

I am unable to acquiesce therefore in the contention of counsel for the appellant Anderson, that he should have been charged with aiding and abetting and not with indecent assault, notwithstanding he is punishable, his guilt being proved, as a principal.

At most it would only be such a variance between the information and the evidence as would have entitled the Court, if the defendant were misled, to amend, and adjourn, upon such terms as the Court might think fit, the further hearing of the case. I cannot find on the record that any objection was taken.

Reason 1 (a) is overruled.

The second reason of appeal 1 (b) refers to statements made by Jessie to Mrs. Kyte and others.

In the opinion of the Court the evidence in this matter as disclosed in the proceedings bring this case within Rex. v. Osborne (1905), 1 K.B. 551, 561, the statements made by Jessie to Mrs. Kyte, were not in answer to questions of a leading, inducing, or intimidating character. Where non-consent is a necessarily legal part of the issue, evidence of fresh complaint is admissible not merely as negating consent but as being consistent with the sworn evidence of the woman. Jessie, at the first opportunity, commenced the conversation by saying "Dinga (Anderson) do me story to-day." Mrs. Kyte said: "What did he do?" and then Jessie told her. In the opinion of the Court such evidence was properly admitted.

Reasons 2 (a) (b) and (c) refer to the importation of the knowledge of the Magistrate of the locus and the conclusions drawn therefrom. It does not appear from the proceedings that there is any evidence to show that the house viewed by the Magistrate was the house where the alleged offence took place, and his conclusions therefore in so far as they are governed by such view cannot be accepted, but after rejection of such there is evidence, which, according to the Magistrate, he believed, which supports his opinion that Jessie's evidence as to her not calling out is to be credited. As he states in his reasons, "I "believe Jessie's evidence that Anderson threatened her and that she was overpowered by force and "fright." And this may have well accounted for her making no outcry.

Reason 3 (a) deals with the Magistrate's alleged excess of jurisdiction. It was within the power of the Magistrate to deal with the matter on the charge before him, and he evidently did not think that it ought to be tried indictably, and so dealt with it.

With regard to reason 4 (a), it would almost appear that counsel for the three convicted defendants, and who appeared for all five in the Court below, felt aggrieved at the acquittal of the two. The Magistrate, no doubt, took a lenient view of the case as regards the two whom he acquitted. He might well have convicted them, and his decision is really one of "not proven." The fact that Jessie swore the two men Goordath, and Ramlall, were two of the five men who were engaged in the assault upon her, that they set up an alibi, and that the Magistrate gave them the benefit of the doubt, does not necessarily mean that he disbelieved her testimony as regards those two men. In Reg. v. Folkes and Ludds (1 Moody 364) the accused men and two others were charged with rape upon one Elizabeth Heythorpe: Ludds was acquitted on the evidence of an alibi, but Folkes convicted. Nor can the Court see that in so dismissing the charge the Magistrate believed the alibi set up, or even so believing that Jessie's evidence stands uncorroborated. Corroboration was legally, not necessary, but no doubt, very desirable, and all the surrounding circumstances amply corroborate her story.

Reason 4 (b). Jessie's statement to Mrs. Kyte was admissible in the opinion of the Court, and in addition there were her statements made in the presence of certainly two of the three defendants, Anderson and Poolo. According to Mrs. Sage, "I met 1 and 3 (Anderson and Poolo) and saw Jessie and asked her what is it; she was crying. Anderson was close to, and heard Jessie say to me 'Dinga (Anderson) want and bring four young men Letter Kenny,' and looked her up, and they had something to do with her. 'I turned to and asked Dinga why he done that; would you like any young man to treat your sister like that. He said the girl is my wife, and I can do what I like with her.' Jessie looked mashed up so poorly and fall away like . . . I spoke to Poolo and asked him. He said 'you can't blame me. Dinga bring me, you must blame him.' Dinga said nothing . . . There is plenty of evidence besides this, to justify the Magistrate's finding and his decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 26TH DAY OF JULY, 1913.

DARE

VERSUS

SUB-INSPECTOR CRAIG.

The following judgment was read:—

HILL, (Acting J.): This is an appeal from the decision of a Magistrate convicting appellant of unlawfully molesting the Reverend L. J. Rowe, a minister of religion, whilst lawfully celebrating a religious rite, contrary to law.

The reasons of appeal are:—

1.—(a.) Because the evidence does not establish that Mr. Rowe is a minister of religion;
(b.) That even if he is a minister of religion the evidence does not establish molestation, or that Mr. Rowe was at the time of the alleged molestation, engaged in the celebration of a religious rite;
(c.) That a minister of religion merely being driven in a carriage in a funeral procession along the public highway is not thereby celebrating a religious rite.

(d.) That the alleged molestation took place on a public highway and a public highway is not a place within the meaning of the section;

(e.) That the Magistrate was wrong in convicting the appellant because he was only asserting a bona fide claim to conduct the funeral procession.

(2.) That the decision is unwarranted by the evidence in like manner as if the case had been tried by a jury, there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain a verdict.

(a.) For the reasons set out above in paragraphs 1 (a) (b) (c) (d) and (e).

Reason 1 (a.) The evidence establishes that Mr. Rowe is a minister of religion.

Reasons 1 (b) (c) (d) were in effect taken together. The evidence, in the opinion of the Court, establishes molestation. A funeral ceremony or service is a religious rite or order. According to the Book of Common Prayer it is spoken of as "The Order for the Burial of the dead." The corpse is taken into the Church, the Priest meeting it, and after the service in the Church, "when they come to the grave" certain prayers are said by the Priest. The "order" or "rite" is a continuous one, beginning at the Church and finishing at the grave. It appears from the evidence that having concluded that part of the service held in the Church, a procession was formed and started for the cemetery at which place the funeral service was to have been completed by Mr. Rowe. Mr. Rowe drove in a carriage. It does not appear to the Court to affect the question whether the "Gardeners" or the "Guild" provided the carriage in which he drove. On the way to the cemetery the molestation took place.

After considering Cope v. Barber, et al (L.R. 7 C.P. 393), the Court is of opinion that at the time of molestation, he was engaged in celebrating a religious rite. In that case the Court upheld the Magistrates in their decision that Barber and others (Church Wardens) had not been guilty of the offence charged, that was, of "molesting the Reverend Cope, a Clergyman in Holy Orders, celebrating Divine Service." The facts were that the Reverend Cope went into the body of the Church and commenced collecting the offertory whilst another clergyman read the offertory sentences. He was molested by Barber and others in so doing and the Magistrates decided, and were upheld, that he was not molested while celebrating Divine Service.

Willes, J., at p. 402 is thus reported:—

"In this case the appellant is said to have been 'molested whilst ministering or celebrating a rite' or office. He was collecting or attempting to collect the offertory. In passing from the pulpit or the reading desk to the communion table, the 'Clergyman is on his way to do his duty. So whilst returning. He is entitled to the protection of the 'Act whilst ministering or celebrating any rite or office, or making any movement towards, in or after 'such celebration,' and it was held the collection of alms did not bring him within the protection of the section.

In the opinion of the Court, Mr. Rowe, when on the way from the Church to the Cemetery to conclude the funeral service, was on the way to do his duty and was "making a movement in" the celebration of a religious rite.

Reason 1 (d.) In considering whether the highway is a place within the meaning of the section, local conditions have to be taken into account. If the place of burial had been in the Churchyard, and the reverend gentleman had been molested whilst walking from the Church to the grave, there would clearly have been a molestation of him within the section, and the fact that he was molested whilst driving from the Church to the Cemetery, does not preclude him from his remedy under the section.

Reason 1 (c.) Appellant was guilty of an offence under the section. He molested the Reverend Rowe, not because he (appellant) thought Mr. Rowe had no right to be celebrating a religious rite, but because the order of the procession was not to his liking. His bona fides does not affect the question.

The conviction is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

HUTSON.

versus

MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL AS LOCAL AUTHORITY OF THE URBAN SANITARY DISTRICT, CITY OF GEORGETOWN.

The following decision was read:—

Hill, (Acting J.): This is an appeal from the decision of a Magistrate convicting appellant of an infringement of the Mosquito By-laws of 1907, made by the respondents under Section 179 of the Local Government Ordinance, 1907.

The reasons of appeal are:—

1 (a). Because the evidence of Henry Aaron Britton, Sanitary Inspector, proved that the vat in question had been screened in terms of the Mosquito Prevention By-laws, 1907, but that such screening had got into disrepair.

(b.) Because the learned Magistrate was wrong in holding that By-Law 2 of the Mosquito Prevention By-Laws, 1907, under which the complaint was preferred imposed the obligation on owners to keep screened all vats, tanks, or other vessels, after the same had been screened within the period provided by By-Law 5.

(c.) Because the complainant was not remediless inasmuch as section 1 of the Mosquito Ordinance, 1910, fully provided against disrepair of vats and tanks.

The three reasons were, in effect, argued together. The Section 179 (4) of the Local Government Board Ordinance, 1907, is as follows:—

"Every Local Authority may make By-Laws for 'the cleansing and rendering mosquito proof of 'tanks, vats and other receptacles for the storage of 'water, and in such By-laws may prescribe the 'means by which such tanks, vats, and receptacles 'shall be made and kept mosquito proof."

The By-law made under that section is No. 2 of the By-laws of 1907, viz:—

"All vats, tanks, or other vessels, shall be screened, with mosquito proof wire-netting or other suitable material so as to prevent the entrance into or exit of mosquitoes from such vats, or tanks, or other vessels."

The construction to be put on By-laws framed under the provisions of an Ordinance, are not to be as rigidly interpreted as in the case of the interpretation of an Ordinance itself. A By-law is a legally authorised restriction on an otherwise legal liberty of action. If valid it has the force of law within the sphere of its legal operation, and if inconsistent it is ultra vires, but where not inconsistent, it has the force and effect of law. A reasonable common sense view should be taken of By-laws, and it is necessary to consider the body to whom the power is entrusted, and the object of giving them this power. One should not seek to defeat them because of some fantastic suggestions as to how they become unreasonable, or inoperative by a suggested omission, as in this case, of the words, "and kept screened." This is in accordance with the views expressed by Russell of Killowen, L.C.J., in Kruse v. Johnson, 62 J.P. 469, where he differentiates between the Court watching jealously By-laws made by companies carrying on businesses for their own profit, although incidentally for the advantage of the public, and bodies of a public representative character entrusted with delegated authority. In this latter event, he considers the consideration of such By-laws should be approached from a different standpoint, they ought to be supported, if possible, they ought to be, as has been said, "benevolently" interpreted. In the case of Kruse v. Johnson, the validity of the By-law was questioned, in the case under appeal its validity is not questioned, but it is suggested that its operation is restricted by the omission of certain words which if such a contention were upheld would render the By-law, in so far as its continuity of operation is concerned, a dead letter.

Even if, therefore, the Court held that it was a casus omissus, it might feel justified in reading into the words "screened" something more than a single act, but a "continuous" screening. The Court, however, considers that the section and By-law thereunder must be read and construed together, and is of opinion that when the Local Authority exercised its statutory power to render mosquito proof all vats, and to prescribe the means by which such vats "shall be made and kept mosquito proof," by requiring, in By-law 2, that "all vats shall be screened with "mosquito proof wire-netting, or other suitable "material, so as to prevent the entrance into, or "exit of mosquito from such vats," &c., it meant, and, in effect, said, that the screening must be of such material as will not only make the vat mosquito proof, but keep it mosquito proof, and if the screening is allowed to get into such disrepair, as will permit the ingress, and egress, of mosquitos, there is non-compliance with the By-law.

The Magistrate was right in convicting, and his decision is affirmed, and the appeal dismissed with costs.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 26TH DAY OF JULY, 1913.

J. TURTON.

versus

M. VIEIRA et al.

The following Judgment was read:—

Earnshaw, C.J. (Acting): This is an application to the Court by the plaintiff for an order of revivor in the above action.

The defendants oppose the application on the ground that the plaintiff is out of time, and under Order xxxii, Rule 5 (2) is absolutely precluded from obtaining such an order.

The pertinent words of the Rule are as follows:— "If in any action whatever there has been no proceeding for one year from the last proceeding had, the action shall be deemed altogether abandoned and incapable of being received."

This application was filed on the 9th July, 1913.

On the 11th July, 1912, the defendants' solicitor formally filed a withdrawal of an application to place the action on the hearing list.

On the 28th May, 1912, the defendants had applied to have the case placed on the hearing list. If filing a withdrawal of that application is not a "proceeding" then it is clear the plaintiff is now out of time.

After considering the point I have come to the conclusion that the word "proceeding" in the Rule must mean some step forward in the action which would have the effect of advancing the action.

The withdrawal of an application to have an action placed on the hearing list is clearly not such a step forward. It is a step backward, a regression, not an advance.

I therefore find that the last proceeding had in this action before this application was on the 28th May, 1912.

It is therefore incapable of being revived and the application is dismissed with costs.

THE following Bills, which it is proposed to introduce into the Court of Policy, are hereby published for general information.

By Command,

CLIFTON GRANNUM,
Acting Government Secretary.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO INTRODUCE
"THE ENGLISH STATUTE AND COMMON LAW RELAT-"ING TO THE SALE OF GOODS."

BE it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows :—

PART I.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Sale of Goods Ordinance, Short title. 1913.

2.—(1.) In this Ordinance, unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires,— Interpretation of terms.

"Action" includes counterclaim and set off:

"Buyer" means a person who buys or agrees to buy goods:

"Contract of sale" includes an agreement to sell as well as a sale:

"Delivery means" voluntary transfer of possession from one person to another:

"Document of title to goods" has the same meaning as it has in the Factors Act, 1889, in England:

"Fault" means wrongful act or default:

"Future goods" means goods to be manufactured or acquired by the seller after the making of the contract of sale:

"Goods" include all movables except money. The term includes growing crop, and things attached to or forming part of the land which are agreed to be severed before sale or under the contract of sale :

"Lien" includes the right of retention :

"Property" means the general property in goods, and not merely a special property :

"Quality of goods" includes their state or condition :

"Sale" includes a bargain and sale as well as a sale and delivery :

"Seller" means a person who sells or agrees to sell goods :

"Specific goods" mean goods identified and agreed upon at the time a contract of sale is made :

"Warranty" means an agreement with reference to goods which are the subject of a contract of sale, but collateral to the main purpose of such contract, the breach of which gives rise to a claim for damages, but not to a right to reject the goods and treat the contract as repudiated.

(2.) A thing is deemed to be done "in good faith" within the meaning of this Ordinance when it is in fact done honestly, whether it be done negligently or not.

(3.) A person is deemed to be insolvent within the meaning of this Ordinance who either has ceased to pay his debts in the ordinary course of business, or cannot pay his debts as they become due, whether he has committed an act of insolvency or not.

(4.) Goods are in "a deliverable state" within the meaning of this Ordinance when they are in such a state that the buyer would under the contract be bound to take delivery of them.

FORMATION OF THE CONTRACT.

Contract of Sale.

Sale and
to sell.

3.--(1.) A contract of sale of goods is a contract whereby the seller transfers or agrees to transfer the property in goods to the buyer for a money consideration, called the price. There may be a contract of Sale between one part owner and another.

(2.) A contract of sale may be absolute or conditional.

(3.) Where under a contract of sale the property in the goods is transferred from the seller to the buyer the contract is called a sale ; but where the transfer of the property in the goods is to take place at a future time or subject to some condition thereafter to be fulfilled the contract is called an agreement to sell.

(4.) An agreement to sell becomes a sale when the time elapses or the conditions are fulfilled subject to which the property in the goods is to be transferred.

4. Capacity to buy and sell is regulated by the general law concerning capacity to contract, and to transfer and acquire property. Capacity to buy and sell.

Provided that where necessaries are sold and delivered to an infant, or minor, or to a person who by reason of mental incapacity or drunkenness is incompetent to contract, he must pay a reasonable price therefor.

Necessaries in this section mean goods suitable to the condition in life of such infant or minor or other person, and to his actual requirements at the time of the sale and delivery.

Formalities of the Contract

5. Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance and of any ordinance in that behalf, a contract of sale may be made in writing (either with or without seal), or by word of mouth, or partly in writing and partly by word of mouth, or may be implied from the conduct of the parties. Contract of sale, how made.

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the law relating to corporations.

6.—(1.) A contract for the sale of any goods of the value of ten pounds or upwards shall not be enforceable by action unless the buyer shall accept part of the goods so sold, and actually receive the same, or give something in earnest to bind the contract, or in part payment, or unless some note or memorandum in writing of the contract be made and signed by the party to be charged or his agent in that behalf. Contract of sale for ten pounds and upwards.

(2.) The provisions of this section apply to every such contract, notwithstanding that the goods may be intended to be delivered at some future time, or may not at the time of such contract be actually made, procured, or provided, or fit or ready for delivery, or some act may be requisite for the making or completing thereof, or rendering the same fit for delivery.

(3.) There is an acceptance of goods within the meaning of this section when the buyer does any act in relation to the goods which recognises a pre-existing contract of sale whether there be an acceptance in performance of the contract or not.

Subject Matter of Contract.

7.—(1.) The goods which form the subject of a contract of sale may be either existing goods, owned or possessed by the seller, of Existing or future goods.

goods to be manufactured or acquired by the seller after the making of the contract of sale, in this Ordinance called "future goods."

(2.) There may be a contract for the sale of goods, the acquisition of which by the seller depends upon a contingency which may or may not happen.

(3.) Where by a contract of sale the seller purports to effect a present sale of future goods the contract operates as an agreement to sell the goods.

Goods which have perished.

8. Where there is a contract for the sale of specific goods, and the goods without the knowledge of the seller have perished at the time when the contract is made, the contract is void.

Goods perishing before sale but after agreement to sell.

9. Where there is an agreement to sell specific goods, and subsequently the goods, without any fault on the part of the seller or buyer, perish before the risk passes to the buyer, the agreement is thereby avoided.

The Price.

Ascertainment of price.

10.—(1.) The price in a contract of sale may be fixed by the contract, or may be left to be fixed in manner thereby agreed, or may be determined by the course of dealing between the parties.

(2.) Where the price is not determined in accordance with the foregoing provisions the buyer must pay a reasonable price. What is a reasonable price is a question of fact dependent on the circumstances of each particular case.

Agreement to sell at valuation.

11.—(1.) Where there is an agreement to sell goods on the terms that the price is to be fixed by the valuation of a third party, and such third party cannot or does not make such valuation, the agreement is avoided; provided that if the goods or any part thereof have been delivered to and appropriated by the buyer he must pay a reasonable price therefor.

(2.) Where such third party is prevented from making the valuation by the fault of the seller or buyer, the party not in fault may maintain an action for damages against the party in fault.

Conditions and Warranties.

Stipulations as to time.

12.—(1.) Unless a different intention appears from the terms of the contract, stipulations as to time of payment are not deemed to be of the essence of a contract of sale. Whether any other stipulation as to time is of the essence of the contract or not depends on the terms of the contract.

(2.) In a contract of sale "month" means primâ facie calendar month.

13.—(1.) Where a contract of sale is subject to any condition to be fulfilled by the seller, the buyer may waive the condition, or may elect to treat the breach of such condition as a breach of warranty, and not as a ground for treating the contract as repudiated.

When condition to be treated as warranty.

(2.) Whether a stipulation in a contract of sale is a condition, the breach of which may give rise to a right to treat the contract as repudiated, or a warranty, the breach of which may give rise to a claim for damages but not to a right to reject the goods and treat the contract as repudiated, depends in each case on the construction of the contract. A stipulation may be a condition, though called a warranty in the contract.

(3.) Where a contract of sale is not severable, and the buyer has accepted the goods, or part thereof, or where the contract is for specific goods, the property in which has passed to the buyer, the breach of any condition to be fulfilled by the seller can only be treated as a breach of warranty, and not as a ground for rejecting the goods and treating the contract as repudiated, unless there be a term of the contract, express or implied, to that effect.

(4.) Nothing in this section shall affect the case of any condition or warranty, fulfilment of which is excused by law by reason of impossibility or otherwise.

14. In a contract of sale, unless the circumstances of the contract are such as to show a different intention, there is—

Implied undertaking as to title, &c.

- (1.) An implied condition on the part of the seller that in the case of a sale he has a right to sell the goods, and that in the case of an agreement to sell he will have a right to sell the goods at the time when the property is to pass :
- (2.) An implied warranty that the buyer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods :
- (3.) An implied warranty that the goods shall be free from any charge or encumbrance in favour of any third party, not declared or known to the buyer before or at the time when the contract is made.

15. Where there is a contract for the sale of goods by description, there is an implied condition that the goods shall correspond with the description ; and if the sale be by sample, as well as by description, it is not sufficient that the bulk of the goods corresponds with the sample if the goods do not also correspond with the description.

Sale by description.

16. Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance and of any Ordinance in that behalf, there is no implied warranty or condition as to the quality or fitness for any particular purpose of goods supplied under a contract of sale, except as follows :—

Implied condition as to quality or fitness.

- (1.) Where the buyer, expressly or by implication, makes known to the seller the particular purpose for which the goods are required, so as to show that the buyer relies on the seller's skill or judgment, and the goods are of a description which it is in the course of the seller's business to supply (whether he be the manufacturer or not), there is an implied condition that the goods shall be reasonably fit for such purpose, provided that in the case of a contract for the sale of a specified article under its patent or other trade name, there is no implied condition as to its fitness for any particular purpose :
- (2.) Where goods are bought by description, from a seller who deals in goods of that description (whether he be the manufacturer or not), there is an implied condition that the goods shall be of merchantable quality ; provided that if the buyer has examined the goods, there shall be no implied condition as regards defects which such examination ought to have revealed :
- (3.) An implied warranty or condition as to quality or fitness for a particular purpose may be annexed by the usage of trade.
- (4.) An express warranty or condition does not negative a warranty or condition implied by this Ordinance unless inconsistent therewith.

Sale by Sample.

17. (1.) A contract of sale is a contract for sale by sample where there is a term in the contract, express or implied, to that effect.

(2.) In the case of a contract for sale by sample—

- (a.) There is an implied condition that the bulk shall correspond with the sample in quality :
- (b.) There is an implied condition that the buyer shall have a reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample :
- (c.) There is an implied condition that the goods shall be free from any defect, rendering them merchantable, which would not be apparent on reasonable examination of the sample.

PART II.

EFFECTS OF THE CONTRACT.

Transfer of Property as between Seller and Buyer.

Goods must be ascertained.

18. Where there is a contract for the sale of unascertained goods no property in the goods is transferred to the buyer unless and until the goods are ascertained.

19.—(1.) Where there is a contract for the sale of specific or ascertained goods the property in them is transferred to the buyer at such time as the parties to the contract intend it to be transferred.

Property passes when intended to pass.

(2.) For the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the parties regard shall be had to the terms of the contract, the conduct of the parties, and the circumstances of the case.

20. Unless a different intention appears, the following are rules for ascertaining the intention of the parties as to the time at which the property in the goods is to pass to the buyer.

Rules for ascertaining intention.

Rule 1.—Where there is an unconditional contract for the sale of specific goods, in a deliverable state, the property in the goods passes to the buyer when the contract is made, and it is immaterial whether the time of payment or the time of delivery, or both, be postponed.

Rule 2.—Where there is a contract for the sale of specific goods and the seller is bound to do something to the goods, for the purpose of putting them into a deliverable state, the property does not pass until such thing be done, and the buyer has notice thereof.

Rule 3.—Where there is a contract for the sale of specific goods in a deliverable state, but the seller is bound to weigh, measure, test, or do some other act or thing with reference to the goods for the purpose of ascertaining the price, the property does not pass until such act or thing be done, and the buyer has notice thereof.

Rule 4.—When goods are delivered to the buyer on approval or “on sale or return” or other similar terms the property therein passes to the buyer :—

- (a.) When he signifies his approval or acceptance to the seller or does any other act adopting the transaction :
- (b.) If he does not signify his approval or acceptance to the seller but retains the goods without giving notice of rejection, then, if a time has been fixed for the return of the goods, on the expiration of such time, and, if no time has been fixed, on the expiration of a reasonable time. What is a reasonable time is a question of fact.

Rule 5.—(1.) Where there is a contract for the sale of unascertained or future goods by description, and goods of that description and in a deliverable state are unconditionally appropriated to the contract, either by the seller with the assent of the buyer, or by the buyer with the assent of the seller, the property in the goods thereupon passes to the buyer. Such assent may be expressed or implied and may be given either before or after the appropriation is made :

- (2.) Where, in pursuance of the contract, the seller delivers the goods to the buyer or to a carrier or other bailee (whether named by the buyer or not) for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, and does not reserve the right of disposal, he is deemed to have unconditionally appropriated the goods to the contract.

Reservation
disposal.

21.—(1.) Where there is a contract for the sale of specific goods or where goods are subsequently appropriated to the contract, the seller may, by the terms of the contract or appropriation, reserve the right of disposal of the goods until certain conditions are fulfilled. In such case, notwithstanding the delivery of the goods to the buyer, or to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer the property in the goods does not pass to the buyer until the conditions imposed by the seller are fulfilled.

(2.) Where goods are shipped, and by the bill of lading the goods are deliverable to the order of the seller or his agent, the seller is prima facie deemed to reserve the right of disposal.

(3.) Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price, and transmits the bill of exchange and bill of lading to the buyer together to secure acceptance or payment of the bill of exchange, the buyer is bound to return the bill of lading if he does not honour the bill of exchange, and if he wrongfully retains the bill of lading the property in the goods does not pass to him.

Risk prima facie passes
with property.

22. Unless otherwise agreed, the goods remain at the seller's risk until the property therein is transferred to the buyer, but when the property therein is transferred to the buyer, the goods are at the buyer's risk whether delivery has been made or not.

Provided that where delivery has been delayed through the fault of either buyer or seller the goods are at the risk of the party in fault as regards any loss which might not have occurred but for such fault.

Provided also that nothing in this section shall affect the duties or liabilities of either seller or buyer as a bailee of the goods of the other party.

Transfer of Title.

Sale by person not the owner.

23.—(1.) Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, where goods are sold by a person who is not the owner thereof, and who does not sell them under the authority or with the consent of the owner, the buyer acquires no better title to the goods than the seller had, unless the owner of the goods is by his conduct precluded from denying the seller's authority to sell.

(2.) Provided also that nothing in this Ordinance shall affect—

(a.) The provisions of the Law of Merchant Shipping Ordinance, 1850, or any enactment, enabling the apparent owner of goods to dispose of them as if he were the true owner thereof;

(b.) The validity of any contract of sale under any special common law or statutory power of sale or under the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

24. Where goods are sold in any public market held under the authority of the Government or otherwise in accordance with the law according to the usage of the market, the buyer acquires a good title to the goods, provided he buys them in good faith and without notice of any defect or want of title on the part of the seller.

Goods sold in Public Market.

25. When the seller of goods has a voidable title thereto, but his title has not been avoided at the time of the sale, the buyer acquires a good title to the goods, provided he buys them in good faith and without notice of the seller's defect of title.

Sale under voidable title.

26.—(1) Where goods have been stolen and the offender is prosecuted to conviction, the property in the goods so stolen revests in the person who was the owner of the goods or his personal representative, notwithstanding any intermediate dealing with them, whether by sale in public market or otherwise.

Revesting of property in stolen goods on conviction of offender.

(2.) Notwithstanding any enactment to the contrary, where goods have been obtained by fraud or other wrongful means not amounting to larceny, the property in such goods shall not revests in the person who was the owner of the goods, or his personal representative, by reason only of the conviction of the offender.

27.—(1). Where a person having sold goods continues or is in possession of the goods, or of the documents of title to the goods, the delivery or transfer by that person, or by a mercantile agent acting for him, of the goods or documents of title under any sale, pledge, or other disposition thereof, to any person receiving the same in good faith and without notice of the previous sale, shall have the same effect as if the person making the delivery or transfer were expressly authorised by the owner of the goods to make the same.

Seller or buyer in possession after sale.

(2.) Where a person having bought or agreed to buy goods obtains, with the consent of the seller, possession of the goods or the documents of title to the goods, the delivery or transfer by that person, or by a mercantile agent acting for him, of the goods or documents of title, under any sale, pledge, or other disposition thereof, to any person receiving the same in good faith and without notice of any lien or other right of the original seller in respect of the goods, shall have the same effect as if the person making the delivery or transfer were a mercantile agent in possession of the goods or documents of title with the consent of the owner.

(3.) In this section the term "mercantile agent" shall mean a mercantile agent having in the customary course of his business as such agent authority either to sell goods or to consign goods for the purpose of sale or to buy goods or to raise money on the security of goods.

Effect of
execution.

28. A writ of execution against goods shall bind the property in the goods of the execution debtor as from the time when the writ is delivered to the marshal to be executed; and, for the better manifestation of such time, it shall be the duty of the marshal without fee, upon the receipt of any such writ to endorse upon the back thereof the hour, day, month, and year when he received the same.

Provided that no such writ shall prejudice the title to such goods acquired by any person in good faith and for valuable consideration, unless such person had at the time when he acquired his title notice that such writ or any other writ by virtue of which the goods of the execution debtor might be seized or attached had been delivered to and remained unexecuted in the hands of the marshal.

PART III.

PERFORMANCE OF THE CONTRACT.

Duties of seller and buyer.

29. It is the duty of the seller to deliver the goods, and of the buyer to accept and pay for them, in accordance with the terms of the contract of sale.

Payment and delivery
are concurent conditions.

30. Unless otherwise agreed, delivery of the goods and payment of the price are concurrent conditions, that is to say, the seller must be ready and willing to give possession of the goods to the buyer in exchange for the price, and the buyer must be ready and willing to pay the price in exchange for possession of the goods.

Rules as to delivery.

31.—(1.) Whether it is for the buyer to take possession of the goods or for the seller to send them to the buyer is a question depending in each case on the contract, express or implied, between the parties. Apart from any such contract, express or implied, the place of delivery is the seller's place of business, if he have one, and if not, his residence. Provided that, if the contract be for the sale of specific goods, which to the knowledge of the parties, when the contract is made are in some other place, then that place is the place of delivery.

(2.) Where under the contract or sale the seller is bound to send the goods to the buyer, but no time for sending them is fixed, the seller is bound to send them within a reasonable time.

(3.) Where the goods at the time of sale are in the possession of a third person, there is no delivery by seller to buyer unless and until such third person acknowledges to the buyer that he holds the goods on his behalf; provided that nothing in this section shall affect the operation of the issue or transfer of any document of title to goods.

(4.) Demand or tender of delivery may be treated as ineffectual unless made at a reasonable hour. What is a reasonable hour is a question of fact.

(5.) Unless otherwise agreed, the expenses of and incidental to putting the goods into a deliverable state must be borne by the seller.

32.—(1.) Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods less than he contracted to sell, the buyer may reject them, but if the buyer accepts the goods so delivered he must pay for them at the contract rate. Delivery of wrong quantity.

(2.) Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods larger than he contracted to sell, the buyer may accept the goods included in the contract and reject the rest, or he may reject the whole. If the buyer accepts the whole of the goods so delivered he must pay for them at the contract rate.

(3.) Where the seller delivers to the buyer the goods he contracted to sell mixed with goods of different description not included in the contract, the buyer may accept the goods which are in accordance with the contract and reject the rest, or he may reject the whole.

(4.) The provisions of this section are subject to any usage of trade, special agreement, or course of dealing between the parties.

33.—(1.) Unless otherwise agreed, the buyer of goods is not bound to accept delivery thereof by instalments. Instalment deliveries.

(2.) Where there is a contract for the sale of goods to be delivered by stated instalments, which are to be separately paid for, and the seller makes defective deliveries in respect of one or more instalments, or the buyer neglects or refuses to take delivery of or pay for one or more instalments, it is a question in each case depending on the terms of the contract and the circumstances of the case, whether the breach of contract is a repudiation of the whole contract or whether it is a severable breach giving rise to a claim for compensation but not to a right to treat the whole contract as repudiated.

carrier.

34.—(1.) Where, in pursuance of a contract of sale, the seller is authorized or required to send the goods to the buyer, delivery of the goods to a carrier, whether named by the buyer or not, for the purpose of transmission to the buyer is prima facie deemed to be a delivery of the goods to the buyer.

(2.) Unless otherwise authorized by the buyer, the seller must make such contract with the carrier on behalf of the buyer as may be reasonable having regard to the nature of the goods and the other circumstances of the case. If the seller omit so to do, and the goods are lost or damaged in course of transit, the buyer may decline to treat the delivery to the carrier as a delivery to himself, or may hold the seller responsible in damages.

(3.) Unless otherwise agreed, where goods are sent by the seller to the buyer by a route involving sea transit, under circumstances in which it is usual to insure, the seller must give such notice to the buyer as may enable him to insure them during their sea transit, and, if the seller fails to do so, the goods shall be deemed to be at his risk during such sea transit.

Risk where goods are delivered at distant place.

35. Where the seller of goods agrees to deliver them at his own risk at a place other than that where they are when sold, the buyer must, nevertheless, unless otherwise agreed, take any risk of deterioration in the goods necessarily incident to the course of transit.

Buyer's right
the goods.

36 —(1.) Where goods are delivered to the buyer, which he has not previously examined, he is not deemed to have accepted them unless and until he has had a reasonable opportunity of examining them for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract.

(2.) Unless otherwise agreed, when the seller tenders delivery of goods to the buyer, he is bound, on request, to afford the buyer a reasonable opportunity of examining the goods for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract.

Acceptance.

37. The buyer is deemed to have accepted the goods when he intimates to the seller that he has accepted them, or when the goods have been delivered to him, and he does any act in relation to them which is inconsistent with the ownership of the seller, or when after the lapse of a reasonable time, he retains the goods without intimating to the seller that he has rejected them.

Buyer not bound to return rejected
goods.

38. Unless otherwise agreed, where goods are delivered to the buyer, and he refuses to accept them, having the right so to do, he is not bound to return them to the seller, but it is sufficient if he intimates to the seller that he refuses to accept them.

39. When the seller is ready and willing to deliver the goods, and requests the buyer to take delivery, and the buyer does not within a reasonable time after such request take delivery of the goods, he is liable to the seller for any loss occasioned by his neglect or refusal to take delivery, and also for a reasonable charge for the care and custody of the goods. Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the rights of the seller where the neglect or refusal of the buyer to take delivery amounts to a repudiation of the contract

Liability of buyer for neglecting or refusing delivery of goods.

PART IV.

RIGHTS OF UNPAID SELLER AGAINST THE GOODS.

40.—(1.) The seller of goods is deemed to be an “unpaid seller” within the meaning of this Ordinance— Unpaid seller defined.

- (a.) When the whole of the price has not been paid or tendered ;
- (b.) When a bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument has been received as conditional payment, and the condition on which it was received has not been fulfilled by reason of the dishonour of the instrument or otherwise.

(2.) In this part of this Ordinance the term “seller” includes any person who is in the position of a seller, as, for instance, an agent of the seller to whom the bill of lading has been indorsed, or a consignor or agent who has himself paid, or is directly responsible for the price.

41.—(1.) Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, and of any Ordinance in that behalf, notwithstanding that the property in the goods may have passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller of goods, as such, has by implication of law— Unpaid seller's rights.

- (a.) A lien on the goods or right to retain them for the price while he is in possession of them ;
- (b.) In case of the insolvency of the buyer, a right of stopping the goods in transitu after he has parted with the possession of them ;
- (c.) A right of re-sale as limited by this Ordinance.

(2.) Where the property in goods has not passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller has, in addition to his other remedies, a right of withholding delivery similar to and co-extensive with his rights of lien and stoppage in transitu where the property has passed to the buyer.

Unpaid Seller's Lien.

42.—(1.) Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, the unpaid seller of goods who is in possession of them is entitled to retain Seller's lien.

possession of them until payment or tender of the price in the following cases, namely :—

- (a.) Where the goods have been sold without any stipulation as to credit ;
- (b.) Where the goods have been sold on credit, but the term of credit has expired ;
- (c.) Where the buyer becomes insolvent.

(2.) The seller may exercise his right of lien notwithstanding that he is in possession of the goods as agent or bailee for the buyer.

Part delivery.

43. Where an unpaid seller has made part delivery of the goods, he may exercise his right of lien or retention on the remainder, unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an agreement to waive the lien or right of retention.

Termination of lien.

44.—(1.) The unpaid seller of goods loses his lien or right of retention thereon—

- (a.) When he delivers the goods to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer without reserving the right of disposal of the goods ;
- (b.) When the buyer or his agent lawfully obtains possession of the goods ;
- (c.) By waiver thereof.

(2.) The unpaid seller of goods, having a lien or right of retention thereon, does not lose his lien or right of retention by reason only that he has obtained judgment or decree for the price of the goods.

Stoppage in transitu.

Right of stoppage in transitu.

45. Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, when the buyer of goods becomes insolvent, the unpaid seller who has parted with the possession of the goods has the right of stopping them in transitu that is to say, he may resume possession of the goods as long as they are in course of transit, and may retain them until payment or tender of the price.

Duration of transit.

46.—(1.) Goods are deemed to be in course of transit from the time when they are delivered to a carrier by land or water, or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, until the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, takes delivery of them from such carrier or other bailee.

(2.) If the buyer or his agent in that behalf obtains delivery of the goods before their arrival at the appointed destination, the transit is at an end.

(3.) If, after the arrival of the goods at the appointed destination, the carrier or other bailee acknowledges to the buyer, or his agent, that he holds the goods on his behalf and continues in possession of them as bailee for the buyer, or his agent, the transit is at an end, and it is immaterial that a further destination for the goods may have been indicated by the buyer.

(4.) If the goods are rejected by the buyer, and the carrier or other bailee continues in possession of them, the transit is not deemed to be at an end, even if the seller has refused to receive them back.

(5.) When goods are delivered to a ship chartered by the buyer it is a question depending on the circumstances of the particular case, whether they are in the possession of the master as a carrier, or as agent to the buyer.

(6.) Where the carrier or other bailee wrongfully refuses to deliver the goods to the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, the transit is deemed to be at an end.

(7.) Where part delivery of the goods has been made to the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, the remainder of the goods may be stopped in transitu, unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an agreement to give up possession of the whole of the goods.

47.—(1.) The unpaid seller may exercise his right of stoppage in transitu either by taking actual possession of the goods, or by giving notice of his claim to the carrier or other bailee in whose possession the goods are. Such notice may be given either to the person in actual possession of the goods or to his principal. In the latter case the notice, to be effectual, must be given at such time and under such circumstances that the principal, by the exercise of reasonable diligence, may communicate it to his servant or agent in time to prevent a delivery to the buyer.

How stoppage in transitu is effected.

(2.) When notice of stoppage in transitu is given by the seller to the carrier, or other bailee in possession of the goods, he must re-deliver the goods to, or according to the directions of, the seller. The expenses of such re-delivery must be borne by the seller.

Re-sale by Buyer or Seller

48 Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance the unpaid seller's right of lien or retention or stoppage in transitu is not affected by any sale, or other disposition of the goods which the buyer may have made, unless the seller has assented thereto.

Effect of sub-sale or pledge by buyer.

Provided that where a document of title to goods has been lawfully transferred to any person as buyer or owner of the goods, and that person transfers the document to a person who takes the document in good faith and for valuable consideration, then, if such last-mentioned transfer was by way of sale the unpaid seller's right of lien or retention or stoppage in transitu is defeated, and if such last-mentioned transfer was by way of pledge or other disposition for value, the unpaid seller's right of lien or retention or stoppage in transitu can only be exercised subject to the rights of the transferee.

Sale not generally rescinded by lien or stoppage in transitu.

49.—(1.) Subject to the provisions of this section, a contract of sale is not rescinded by the mere exercise by an unpaid seller of his right of lien or retention or stoppage in transitu.

(2.) Where an unpaid seller who has exercised his right of lien or retention or stoppage in transitu re-sells the goods, the buyer acquires a good title thereto as against the original buyer.

(3.) Where the goods are of a perishable nature, or where the unpaid seller gives notice to the buyer of his intention to resell, and the buyer does not within a reasonable time pay or tender the price, the unpaid seller may re-sell the goods and recover from the original buyer damages for any loss occasioned by his breach of contract.

(4.) Where the seller expressly reserves a right of re-sale in case the buyer should make default, and on the buyer making default, re-sells the goods, the original contract of sale is thereby rescinded, but without prejudice to any claim the seller may have for damages.

PART V.

ACTIONS FOR BREACH OF THE CONTRACT.

Remedies of the Seller.

Action for price.

50.—(1.) Where, under a contract of sale, the property in the goods has passed to the buyer, and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay for the goods according to the terms of the contract, the seller may maintain an action against him for the price of the goods.

(2.) Where, under a contract of sale, the price is payable on a day certain irrespective of delivery, and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay such price, the seller may maintain an action for the price, although the property in the goods has not passed, and the goods have not been appropriated to the contract.

Damages for non-acceptance.

51.—(1.) Where the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to accept and pay for the goods, the seller may maintain an action against him for damages for non-acceptance.

(2.) The measure of damages is the estimated loss directly and naturally resulting, in the ordinary course of events, from the buyer's breach of contract.

(3.) Where there is an available market for the goods in question the measure of damages is prima facie to be ascertained by the difference between the contract price and the market or current price at the time or times when the goods ought to have been accepted, or, if no time was fixed for acceptance, then at the time of the refusal to accept.

Remedies of the Buyer.

52.—(1.) Where the seller wrongfully neglects or refuses to deliver the goods to the buyer, the buyer may maintain an action against the seller for damages for non-delivery. Damages for non-delivery.

(2.) The measure of damages is the estimated loss directly and naturally resulting, in the ordinary course of events, from the seller's breach of contract.

(3.) Where there is an available market for the goods in question the measure of damages is prima facie to be ascertained by the difference between the contract price and the market or current price of the goods at the time or times when they ought to have been delivered, or, if no time was fixed, then at the time of the refusal to deliver.

53. In any action for breach of contract to deliver specific or ascertained goods the court may, if it thinks fit on the application of the plaintiff, by its judgment or decree direct that the contract shall be performed specifically, without giving the defendant the option of retaining the goods on payment of damages. The judgment or decree may be unconditional, or upon such terms and conditions as to damages, payment of the price, and otherwise, as to the court may seem just, and the application by the plaintiff may be made at any time before judgment or decree. Specific performance.

54.—(1.) Where there is a breach of warranty by the seller, or where the buyer elects, or is compelled, to treat any breach of a condition on the part of the seller as a breach of warranty the buyer is not by reason only of such breach of warranty entitled to reject the goods; but he may Remedy for breach of warranty.

(a.) set up against the seller the breach of warranty in diminution or extinction of the price; or

(b.) maintain an action against the seller for damages for the breach of warranty.

(2.) The measure of damages for breach of warranty is the estimated loss directly and naturally resulting, in the ordinary course of events, from the breach of warranty.

(3.) In the case of breach of warranty of quality such loss is prima facie the difference between the value of the goods at the time of delivery to the buyer and the value they would have had if they had answered to the warranty.

(4.) The fact that the buyer has set up the breach of warranty in diminution or extinction of the price does not prevent him from maintaining an action for the same breach of warranty if he has suffered further damage.

Interest and
ages.

55 Nothing in this Ordinance shall affect the right of the buyer or the seller to recover interest or special damages in any case where by law interest or special damages may be recoverable, or to recover money paid where the consideration for the payment of it has failed.

PART VI.

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Exclusion of implied terms and conditions.

56. Where any right, duty, or liability would arise under a contract of sale by implication of law, it may be negated or varied by express agreement or by the course of dealing between the parties, or by usage, if the usage be such as to bind both parties to the contract.

Reasonable time a question of fact.

57. Where, by this Ordinance, any reference is made to a reasonable time the question what is a reasonable time is a question of fact.

Rights, &c.,
by auction.

58. Where any right, duty, or liability is declared by this Ordinance, it may unless otherwise by this Ordinance provided, be enforced by action.

Auction sales

59. In the case of a sale by auction—

- (1.) Where goods are put up for sale by auction in lots, each lot is prima facie deemed to be the subject of a separate contract of sale:
- (2.) A sale by auction is complete when the auctioneer announces its completion by the fall of the hammer, or in other customary manner. Until such announcement is made any bidder may retract his bid:
- (3.) Where a sale by auction is not notified to be subject to a right to bid on behalf of the seller, it shall not be lawful for the seller to bid himself or to employ any person to bid at such sale, or for the auctioneer knowingly to take any bid from the seller or any such person: Any sale contravening this rule may be treated as fraudulent by the buyer:

- (4.) A sale by auction may be notified to be subject to a reserved or upset price, and a right to bid may also be reserved expressly by or on behalf of the seller.

Where a right to bid is expressly reserved, but not otherwise, the seller, or any one person on his behalf, may bid at the auction.

60.—(1.) The rules in insolvency relating to contracts of sale shall continue to apply thereto, notwithstanding anything in this Ordinance contained. Savings.

(2.) Government Notice.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,
13th August, 1913.

360.
HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication of the following information with respect to the Artesian Wells of the Colony.

By Command,

CLIFTON GRANNUM,
Acting Government Secretary.

NOTE ON ARTESIAN WELLS.

Owing to the great scarcity of drinking water during the long drought of 1911-12 it was decided to attempt to ensure a constant supply of good water for domestic purposes by sinking deep artesian wells to draw water from below the recent alluvial deposits; the water from which had been previously proved, by the sinking of shallow wells to depths rarely exceeding 300 feet, to be generally unsatisfactory although in a considerable number of cases superior to trench water for drinking purposes.

2. An expenditure of $20,000 was approved by the Combined Court early in 1912 for the purchase of a deep well boring plant and to meet the cost of sinking some experimental bores.

3. The plant recently arrived in the Colony and the first well is being sunk in D'Urban Park as a supply of pure water if found in that situation would be available for Georgetown.

4. By my instructions data have for some time been searched for regarding the existing shallow artesian wells and the information collected is published below. It is most regrettably incomplete.

The list comprises 76 wells of which

In
Demerara.	Berbice.	Essequibo.
0	2	0	are 100 ft. or less in depth.
15	8	2	between 200 ft. and 100 ft. in depth.
4	12	3	between 300 ft. and 200 ft. in depth.
0	2	0	between 375 ft. and 300 ft. in depth.
23	5	0	unknown depth but almost certainly not of greater depth than 375 feet.
42	29	5	Total ... 76.

5. One general characteristic of the water in these shallow wells is its saline and ferruginous nature which makes it unpalatable though not injurious to health.

6. In some few cases (20 in number) the water is described as good drinking water. The flow of the wells is generally unaffected by drought.

7. It is important that it should be clearly understood that the present experimental borings are to investigate a totally different source of supply; that is, to test the possibility of procuring large and continuous supplies of good water from the main continental strata lying below the recent alluvial deposits which have been already well tested by borings along nearly the whole coast line. The first recorded date being in 1821. No well, however, has been yet sunk through the new alluvial deposits and the thickness of these alluvial deposits and the nature of the strata lying below them can only be guessed at.

8. A sum many times the amount already voted would be well spent if it resulted in the discovery of underground supplies of good water sufficient to allow of the abolition of vats and the collection of rain water and the furnishing of a pipe water supply to the whole town for domestic purposes, for machinery and for supply to shipping.

W. EGERTON.

Government House,
31st May, 1913.

ARTESIAN WELLS.

Major Staples, who had been experimenting for several years found water at Fort William Frederick at a depth of 123 feet in the year 1831.

2. This was the first of a fair number that were bored in Georgetown.

Among them were the following :—

Main Street	Hotel Tower.
Carmichael Street	West, Parade Ground.
Company's Path	R.A. & C.S.
Newtown	Bettencourt.
Werk-en-Rust
Charlestown	Near Ketley's Church.

Probably others.

3. At first there was a great demand for these wells, but soon it was found that the water was neither good for drinking nor for domestic purposes. It was salt and much impregnated with iron. On exposure the oxide of iron formed a yellow pellicle.

4. In the thirties a Demerara Spa was started in connexion with the well in Main Street, with Reading Rooms, Bath and arrangements for drinking the water. Like other Chalybeate Springs the waters are of some value, acting as a gentle laxative and tonic. The Spa was a failure.

5. After the water was found unsuitable the wells were allowed to get choked; I believe none are used to-day.

6. Of late years Mr. Wardle's attempts are to be noted. A well was bored without success near the Water Works and another partially successful at the back of the Burying Ground. The Demerara Electric Co. have started a boring, but I understand it is not completed. Several of Wardle's borings were made on cattle farms but I don't know how they turned out.

7. Analyses of the water have been made by Professor Harrison and published in "Timehri."

8. An improved water is produced by mixing well water with that from the Lamaha, the water is bright but still hard and disagreeable to taste.

J. RODWAY.

3. Six Bursaries will be awarded, four being open to boys educated solely at a Primary School in this Colony who have been presented for examination in Standard V. Two Bursaries will be open for competition among boys educated privately or at Schools other than Primary Schools in this Colony. (2) The resolution shall not take effect until a memorandum, showing the particulars required by this Ordinance in the case of a reduction of share capital, has been produced to and registered by the registrar but the other provisions of this Ordinance with respect to reduction of share capital shall not apply to a reduction of paid-up share capital under this section.

(3) On a reduction of paid-up capital in pursuance of this section any shareholder, or any one or more of several joint shareholders, may within one month after the passing of the resolution for the reduction, require the company to retain, and the company shall retain accordingly, the whole of the money actually paid on the shares held by him either alone or jointly with any other person, which, in consequence of the reduction, would otherwise be returned to him or them, and thereupon those shares shall, as regards the payment of dividend, be deemed to be paid up to the same

(4) The amount retained and invested shall be held to represent the future calls which may be made to replace the share capital so reduced on those shares, whether the amount obtained on sale of the whole or such proportion thereof as represents the amount of any call when made produces more or less than the amount of the call.

(5) On a reduction of paid-up share capital in pursuance of this section, the powers vested in the directors of making calls on shareholders in respect of the amount unpaid on their shares shall extend to the amount of the unpaid share capital as augmented by the reduction.

41. Where a company having a share capital has consolidated and divided its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares, or converted any of its shares into stock, or reconverted stock into shares, it shall give notice to the registrar of the consolidation, division, conversion, or reconversion specifying the shares consolidated, divided, or converted, or the stock reconverted.

44.—(1.) 47. On and from the confirmation by a company of a resolution for reducing share capital, or where the reduction does not involve either the diminution of any liability in respect of unpaid share capital or the payment to any shareholder of any paid-up share capital, then on and from the presentation of the petition for confirming the reduction, the company shall add to its name, until such date as the court may fix, the words "and reduced," as the last words in its name, and those words shall, until that date, be deemed to be part of the name of the company ;

Provided that, where the reduction does not involve either the diminution of any liability in respect of unpaid share capital or the payment to any shareholder of any paid-up share capital, the court may, if it thinks expedient, dispense altogether with the addition of the words "and reduced."

Objections

48.—(1.) Where the proposed reduction of share capital involves either diminution of liability in respect of unpaid share capital or the payment to any shareholder of any paid-up share capital, and in any other case if the court so directs, every creditor of the company who at the date fixed by the court is entitled to any debt or claim which, if that date were the commencement of the winding up of the company, would be admissible in proof against the company, shall be entitled to object to the reduction.

(2.) The court shall settle a list of creditors so entitled to object, and for that purpose shall ascertain, as far as possible without requiring an application from any creditor, the names of those creditors and the nature and amount of their debts or claims, and may publish notices fixing a day or days within which creditors not entered on the list are to claim to be so entered or are to be excluded from the right of objecting to the reduction.

(3.) Where a creditor entered on the list whose debt or claim is not discharged or determined does not consent to the reduction the court may, if it thinks fit, dispense with the consent of that creditor, on the company securing payment of his debt or claim by appropriating, as the court may direct, the following amount ; (that is to say.)—

- (i.) If the company admits the full amount of his debt or claim, or, though not admitting it, is willing to provide for it, then the full amount of the debt or claim ; fixed by the court after the like inquiry and adjudication as if the company were being wound up by the court.

49. The court, if satisfied, with respect to every creditor of the company who under this Ordinance is entitled to object to the reduction, that either his consent to the reduction has been obtained or his debt or claim has been discharged or has determined, or has been secured, may make an order confirming the reduction on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit.

Order confirming reduction.

50.—(1.) The registrar on production to him of an order of the court confirming the reduction of the share capital of a company, and the delivery to him of a copy of the order and of a minute (approved by the court), showing with respect to the share capital of the company, as altered by the order, the amount of the share capital, the number of shares into which it is to be divided, and the amount of each share, and the amount (if any) at the date of the registration deemed to be paid up on each share, shall register the order and minute.

(2.) On the registration, and not before, the resolution for reducing share capital as confirmed by the order so registered shall take effect.

(3.) Notice of the registration shall be published in such manner as the court may direct.

(4.) The registrar shall certify under his hand the registration of the order and minute, and his certificate shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Ordinance with respect to reduction of share capital have been complied with, and that the share capital of the company is such as is stated in the minute.

51.—(1.) The minute when registered shall be deemed to be substituted for the corresponding part of the memorandum of the company, and shall be valid and alterable as it had originally contained therein; and must be embodied in every copy of the memorandum issued after its registration.

Minute to form part of memorandum.

(2.) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five dollars for each copy in respect of which default is made, and every director and manager of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

52. A member of the company, past or present, shall not be liable in respect of any share to any call or contribution exceeding in amount the difference (if any) between the amount paid, or (as the case may be) the reduced amount, if any, which is to be deemed to have been paid, on the share and the amount of the share as fixed by the minute:

Liability of members in respect of reduced shares.

Provided that if any creditor, entitled in respect of any debt or claim to object to the reduction of share capital, is, by reason of his ignorance of the proceedings for reduction, or of their nature and effect with respect to his claim, not entered on the list of creditors, and, after the reduction, the company is unable, within the meaning of the provisions of this Ordinance with respect to winding up by the court, to pay the amount of his debt or claim, then—

- (i.) every person who was a member of the company at the date of the registration of the order for reduction and minute, shall be liable to contribute for the payment of that debt or claim an amount not exceeding the amount which he would have been liable to contribute if the company had commenced to be wound up on the day before the registration ; and
- (ii.) if the company is wound up, the court, on the application of any such creditor, and proof of his ignorance as aforesaid may, if it thinks fit, settle accordingly a list of persons so liable to contribute, and make and enforce calls and orders on the contributories settled on the list as if they were ordinary contributories in a winding up.

Nothing in this section shall affect the rights of the contributories among themselves.

Penalty on concealment of name of creditor.

53. If any director, manager, or officer of the company wilfully conceals the name of any creditor entitled to object to the reduction, or wilfully misrepresents the nature or amount of the debt or claim of any creditor, or if any director or manager of the company aids or abets in or is privy to any such concealment or misrepresentation as aforesaid, every such director, manager, or officer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Publication of reasons for reduction.

54. In any case of reduction of share capital, the court may require the company to publish as the court directs the reasons for reduction, or such other information in regard thereto as the court may think expedient with a view to give proper information to the public, and, if the court thinks fit, the causes which led to the reduction.

TABLE A.

REGULATIONS FOR MANAGEMENT OF A COMPANY LIMITED BY SHARES.

Preliminary.

1. In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, expressions defined in the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof in force at the date at which these regulations become binding on the company, shall have the meanings so defined; and words importing the singular shall include the plural, and vice versa, and words importing the masculine gender shall include females, and words importing persons shall include bodies corporate.

Business.

2. The director shall have regard to the restrictions on the commencement of business imposed by section eighty-six of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913, if, and so far as, those restrictions are binding upon the company.

Shares.

3. Subject to the provisions, if any, in that behalf of the memorandum of association of the company, and without prejudice to any special rights previously conferred on the holders of existing shares in the company, any share in the company may be issued with such preferred, deferred, or other special rights, or such restrictions, whether in regard to dividend, voting, return of share capital, or otherwise, as the company may from time to time by special resolution determine.

4. If at any time the share capital is divided into different classes of shares, the rights attached to any class (unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue of the shares of that class) may be varied with the consent in writing of the holders of three-fourths of the issued shares of that class, or with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of the shares of the class. To every such separate general meeting the provisions of these regulations relating to general meetings shall mutatis mutandis apply, but so that the necessary quorum shall be two persons at least holding or representing by proxy one-third of the issued shares of the class.

5. No share shall be offered to the public for subscription except upon the terms that the amount payable on application shall be at least five per cent. of the nominal amount of the share; and the directors shall, as regards any allotment of shares, duly comply with such of the provisions of sections eighty-four to eighty-seven (both inclusive) of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, as may be applicable thereto.

6. Every person whose name is entered as a member in the register of members shall, without payment, be entitled to a certificate under the common seal of the company specifying the share or shares held by him and the amount paid up thereon, provided that in respect of a share or shares held jointly by several persons the company shall not be bound to issue more than one certificate, and delivery of a certificate for a share to one of several joint holders shall be sufficient delivery to all.

7. If a share certificate is defaced, lost, or destroyed, it may be renewed on payment of such fee, if any, not exceeding twenty-four cents, and on such terms, if any, as to evidence and indemnity as the directors think fit.

8. No part of the funds of the company shall be employed in the purchase of, or in loans upon the security of, the company's shares.

Lien.

9. The company shall have a lien on every share (not being a fully-paid share) for all moneys (whether presently payable or not) called or payable at a fixed time in respect of that share, and the company shall also have a lien on all shares (other than fully-paid shares) standing registered in the name of a single person, for all moneys presently payable by him or his estate to the company; but the directors may at any time declare any share to be wholly or in part exempt from the provisions of this clause. The company's lien, if any, on a share shall extend to all dividends payable thereon.

10. The company may sell, in such manner as the directors think fit, any shares on which the company has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless some sum in respect of which the lien exists, is presently payable, nor until the expiration of fourteen days after a notice in writing, stating and demanding payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, has been given to the registered holder for the time being of the share, or the person entitled by reason of his death or bankruptcy to the share.

11. The proceeds of the sale shall be applied in payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, and the residue shall (subject to a like lien for sums not presently payable as existed upon the shares prior to the sale) be paid to the person entitled to the shares at the date of the sale. The purchaser shall be registered as the holder of the shares, and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, nor shall his title to the shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the sale.

Calls on Shares.

12. The directors may from time to time make calls upon the members in respect of any moneys unpaid on their shares, provided that no call shall exceed one-fourth of the nominal amount of the share, or be payable at less than one month from the last call; and each member shall (subject to receiving at least fourteen days' notice specifying the time or times of payment) pay to the company at the time or times so specified the amount called on his shares.

13. The joint holders of a share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay all calls in respect thereof.

14. If a sum called in respect of a share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest upon the sum at the rate of five per cent. per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment, but the directors shall be at liberty to waive payment of that interest wholly or in part.

15. The provisions of these regulations as to payment of interest shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a share, becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the share, or by way of premium, as if the same had become payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

16. The directors may make arrangements on the issue of shares for a difference between the holders in the amount of calls to be paid and in the times of payment.

17. The directors may, if they think fit, receive from any member willing to advance the same all or any part of the moneys uncalled and unpaid upon any shares held by him; and upon all or any of the moneys so advanced may (until the same would, but for such advance, become presently payable) pay interest at such rate (not exceeding, without the sanction of the company in general meeting, six per cent.) as may be agreed upon between the member paying the sum in advance and the directors.

Transfer and Transmission of Shares.

18. The instrument of transfer of any share in the company shall be executed both by the transferor and transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain a holder of the share until the name of the transferee is entered in the register of members in respect thereof.

19. Shares in the company shall be transferred in the following form, or in any usual or common form which the directors shall approve:

COMPANIES.

[No. 17.]

Witness to the signatures of, &c.

(b) the instrument of transfer is accompanied by the certificate of the shares to which it relates, and such other evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer.

22. Any person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a member shall, upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the directors, have the right, either to be registered as a member in respect of the share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the share as the deceased or bankrupt person could have made; but the directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the share by the deceased or bankrupt person before the death or bankruptcy.

23. A person becoming entitled to a share by reason of the death or bankruptcy of the holder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the share, except that he shall not, before being registered as a member in respect of the share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the company.

Forfeiture of Shares.

24. If a member fails to pay any call or instalment of a call on the day appointed for payment thereof, the directors may, at any time thereafter during such time as any part of such call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid, together with any interest which may have accrued.

25. The notice shall name a further day (not earlier than the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the notice) on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that, in the event of non-payment at or before the time appointed the shares in respect of which the call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

26. If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any share in respect of which the notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before the payment required by the notice has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the directors to that effect.

27. A forfeited share may be sold or otherwise disposed of on such terms and in such manner as the directors think fit, and at any time before a sale or disposition the forfeiture may be cancelled on such terms as the directors think fit.

28. A person whose shares have been forfeited shall cease to be a member in respect of the forfeited shares, but shall, notwithstanding, remain liable to pay to the company all moneys which, at the date of forfeiture, were presently payable by him to the company in respect of the shares, but his liability shall cease if and when the company receive payment in full of the nominal amount of the shares.

29. A statutory declaration in writing that the declarant is a director of the company, and that a share in the company has been duly forfeited on a date stated in the declaration, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact therein stated as against all persons claiming to be entitled to the share, and that declaration, and the receipt of the company for the consideration, if any, given for the share on the sale or disposition thereof shall constitute a good title to the share, and the person to whom the share is sold or disposed of shall be registered as the holder of the share and shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money, if any, nor shall his title to the share be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the forfeiture, sale or disposal of the share.

30. The provisions of these regulations as to forfeiture shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a share becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the share, or by way of premium, as if the same had been payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

Conversion of Shares into Stock.

31. The directors may, with the sanction of the company previously given in general meeting, convert any paid-up shares into stock, and may with the like sanction reconvert any stock into paid-up shares of any denomination.

32. The holders of stock may transfer the same, or any part thereof, in the same manner, and subject to the same regulations, as, and subject to which, the shares from which the stock arose might previously to conversion have been transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances admit; but the directors may from time to time fix the minimum amount of stock transferable, and restrict or forbid the transfer of fractions of that minimum, but the minimum shall not exceed the nominal amount of the shares from which the stock arose.

33. The holders of stock shall, according to the amount of the stock held by them, have the same rights, privileges, and advantages as regards dividends, voting at meetings of the company, and other matters as if they held the shares from which the stock arose, but no such privilege or advantage (except participation in the dividends and profits of the company) shall be conferred by any such aliquot part of stock as would not, if existing in shares, have conferred that privilege or advantage.

34. Such of the Regulations of the company (other than those relating to share warrants) as are applicable to paid-up shares shall apply to stock, and the word "share" and "shareholder" therein shall include "stock" and "stock-holder."

Share Warrants.

35. The company may issue share warrants, and accordingly the directors may in their discretion, with respect to any share which is fully paid up, on application in writing signed by the person registered as holder of the share, and authenticated by such evidence, if any, as the directors may from time to time require as to the identity of the person signing the request, and on receiving the certificate, if any, of the share, and the amount of the stamp duty on the warrant and such fee as the directors may from time to time require, issue under the company's seal a warrant, duly stamped, stating that the bearer of the warrant is entitled to the shares therein specified, and may provide by coupons, or otherwise for the payment of dividends, or other moneys, on the shares included in the warrant.

36. A share warrant shall entitle the bearer to the shares included in it, and the shares shall be transferred by the delivery of the share warrant, and the provisions of the regulations of the company with respect to transfer and transmission of shares shall not apply thereto.

37. The bearer of a share warrant shall, on surrender of the warrant to the company for cancellation, and on payment of such sum as the directors may from time to time prescribe, be entitled to have his name entered as a member in the register of members in respect of the share included in the warrant.

A.D. 1913.]

COMPANIES.

38. The bearer of a share warrant may at any time deposit the warrant at the office of the company, and so long as the warrant remains so deposited the depositor shall have the same right of signing a requisition for calling a meeting of the company, and of attending and voting and exercising the other privileges of a member at any meeting held after the expiration of two clear days from the time of deposit, as if his name were inserted in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the deposited warrant. Not more than one person shall be recognised as depositor of the share warrant. The company shall, on two days' written notice, return the deposited share warrant to the depositor.

39. Subject as herein otherwise expressly provided no person shall, as bearer of a share warrant, sign a requisition for calling a meeting of the company, or attend, or vote, or exercise any other privilege of a member at a meeting of the company, or be entitled to receive any notices from the company; but the bearer of a share warrant shall be entitled in all other respects to the same privileges and advantages as if he were named in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the warrant, and he shall be a member of the company.

40. The directors may from time to time make rules as to the terms on which (if they shall think fit) a new share warrant or coupon may be issued by way of renewal in case of defacement, loss, or destruction.

Alteration of Capital.

41. The directors may, with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution of the company, increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into shares of such amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.

42. Subject to any direction to the contrary that may be given by the resolution sanctioning the increase of share capital, all new shares shall before issue, be offered to such persons as at the date of the offer are entitled to receive notices from the company of general meetings in proportion, as nearly as the circumstances admit, to the amount of the existing shares to which they are entitled. The offer shall be made by notice specifying the number of shares offered, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted, will be deemed to be declined, and, after the expiration of that time, or on the receipt of an intimation from the person to whom the offer is made that he declines to accept the shares offered, the directors may dispose of the same in such manner as they think most beneficial to the company. The directors may likewise so dispose of any new shares which (by reason of the ratio which the new shares bear to shares held by persons entitled to an offer of new shares) cannot, in the opinion of the directors, be conveniently offered under this article.

43. The new shares shall be subject to the same provisions with reference to the payment of calls, lien, transfer, transmission, forfeiture, and otherwise as the shares in the original share capital.

44. The company may, by special resolution—

- (a.) Consolidate and divide its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares:
- (b.) By sub-division of its existing shares, or any of them, divide the whole or any part, of its share capital into shares of smaller amount than is fixed by the memorandum of association, subject, nevertheless, to the provisions of paragraph (d) of sub-section (1) of section forty-one of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913:
- (c.) Cancel any shares which, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person:
- (d.) Reduce its share capital in any manner and with, and subject to, any incident authorised, and consent required, by law.

General Meetings.

45. The statutory general meeting of the company shall be held within the period required by section sixty-four of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913.

46. A general meeting shall be held once in every year at such time (not being more than fifteen months after the holding of the last preceding general meeting) and place as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting, or, in default, at such time in the month following that in which the anniversary of the company's incorporation occurs, and at such place, as the directors shall appoint. In default of a general meeting being so held, a general meeting shall be held in the month next following, and may be convened by any two members in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which meetings are to be convened by the directors.

47. The above-mentioned general meetings shall be called ordinary meetings; all other general meetings shall be called extraordinary.

48. The directors may, wherever they think fit, convene an extraordinary general meeting, and extraordinary general meetings shall also be convened on such requisition, or, in default, may be convened by such requisitionists as provided by section sixty-five of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913. If at any time there are not within the colony sufficient directors capable of acting to form a quorum, any director or any two members of the company may convene an extraordinary general meeting in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which meetings may be convened by the directors.

Proceedings at General Meetings.

49. Seven days' notice at the least (exclusive of the day on which the notice is served or deemed to be served, but inclusive of the day for which notice is given) specifying the place, the day, and the hour of meeting and, in case of special business, the general nature of that business shall be given in manner hereinafter mentioned, or in such other manner, if any, as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting, to such persons as are, under the regulations of the company, entitled to receive such notices from the company; but the non-receipt of the notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any general meeting.

50. All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at an extraordinary meeting, and all that is transacted at an ordinary meeting, with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, the consideration of the accounts, balance-sheets, and the ordinary report of the directors and auditors, the election of directors and other officers in the place of those retiring by rotation, and fixing the remuneration of the auditors.

51. No business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business; save as herein otherwise provided, three members personally present shall be a quorum.

52. If within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved; in any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place, and, if at the adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting the members present shall be a quorum.

53. The chairman, if any, of the board of directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the company.

54. If there is no such chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting or is unwilling to act as chairman, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be chairman.

55. The chairman may, with the consent of any meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting), adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. When a meeting is adjourned for ten days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given as in the case of an original meeting. Save as aforesaid it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

56. At any general meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided on a show of hands, unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by at least three members, and unless a poll is so demanded, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has, on a show of hands, been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book of the proceedings of the company, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of, or against, that resolution.

COMPANIES.

[No. 17.]

57. If a poll is duly demanded it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

58. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on show of hands or on a poll, the chairman at the meeting at which the show of hands takes place or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

59. A poll demanded on the election of a chairman, or on the question of adjournment, shall be taken forthwith. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time as the chairman of the meeting directs.

Votes of Members.

60. On a show of hands every member present in person shall have one vote. On a poll every member shall have one vote for each share of which he is the holder.

61. In the case of joint holders the vote of the senior who tenders a vote, whether in person or by proxy, shall be accepted to the conclusion of the votes of the other joint holders; and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the register of members.

62. A member of unsound mind, or in respect of whom an order has been made by any court having jurisdiction in lunacy, may vote, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, by his committee, curator bonis, or other person in the nature of a committee or curator bonis appointed by that court and any such committee, curator bonis, or other person may on a poll, vote by proxy.

63. No member shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting unless all calls or other sums presently payable by him in respect of shares in the company have been paid.

64. On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

65. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointer or of his attorney duly authorised in writing, or, if the appointer is a corporation, either under the common seal, or under the hand of an officer or attorney so authorised. No person shall act as a proxy unless either he is entitled on his own behalf to be present and vote at the meeting at which he acts as proxy, or he has been appointed to act at that meeting as proxy for a corporation.

66. The instrument appointing a proxy and the power of attorney or other authority, if any, under which it is signed or a notarially certified copy of that power or authority shall be deposited at the registered office of the company not less than forty-eight hours before the time for holding the meeting at which the person named in the instrument proposes to vote, and in default the instrument of proxy shall not be treated as valid.

67. An instrument appointing a proxy may be in the following form, or in any other form which the directors shall approve:—

Directors.

68. The number of the directors and the names of the first directors shall be determined in writing by a majority of the subscribers of the memorandum of association.

69. The remuneration of the directors shall from time to time be determined by the company in general meeting.

70. The qualification of a director shall be the holding of at least one share in the company, and it shall be his duty to comply with the provisions of section seventy-two of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913.

Powers and Duties of Directors.

71. The business of the company shall be managed by the directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in getting up and registering the company, and may exercise all such powers of the company as are not, by the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force, or by these articles, required to be exercised by the company in general meeting, subject nevertheless to any regulation of these articles, to the provisions of the said Ordinance, and to such regulations, being not inconsistent with the aforesaid regulations or provisions, as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting; but no regulation made by the company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the directors which would have been valid if that regulation had not been made.

72. The directors may from time to time appoint one or more of their body to the office of managing director or manager for such term, and at such remuneration (whether by way of salary, or commission, or participation in profits, or partly in one way and partly in another) as they may think fit, and a director so appointed shall not, while holding that office, be subject to retirement by rotation, or taken into account in determining the rotation of retirement of directors; but his appointment shall be subject to determination ipso facto if he ceases from any cause to be a director, or if the company in general meeting resolve that his tenure of the office of managing director or manager be determined.

73. The amount for the time being remaining undischarged of moneys borrowed or raised by the directors for the purposes of the company (otherwise than by the issue of share capital) shall not at any time exceed the issued share capital of the company without the sanction of the company in general meeting.

74. The directors shall duly comply with the provisions of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force, and in particular with the provisions in regard to the registration of the particulars of mortgages and charges affecting the property of the company, or created by it, and to keeping a register of the directors, and to sending to the Registrar an annual list of members, and a summary of particulars relating thereto, and notice of any consolidation or increase of share capital, or conversion of shares into stock, and copies of special resolutions, and a copy of the register of directors and notifications of any changes therein.

75. The directors shall cause minutes to be made in books provided for the purpose—

- (a) of all appointments of officers made by directors;
- (b) of the names of the directors present at each meeting of the directors and of any committee of the directors;
- (c) of all resolutions and proceedings at all meetings of the company, and of the directors, and of committees of directors, and every director present at any meeting of directors or committee of directors shall sign his name in a book to be kept for that purpose.

The Seal.

76. The seal of the company shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the board of directors, and in the presence of at least two directors and of the secretary or such other person as the directors may appoint for the purpose; and those two directors and secretary or other person as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the seal of the company is so affixed in their presence.

Disqualifications of Directors.

77. The office of director shall be vacated, if the director—

- (a) ceases to be a director by virtue of section seventy-two of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913; or

(d) is found lunatic or becomes of unsound mind ; or

(e) is concerned or participates in the profits of any contract with the company :

Provided, however, that no director shall vacate his office by reason of his being a member of any company which has entered into contracts with or done any work for the company of which he is director ; but a director shall not vote in respect of any such contract or work, and if he does so vote his vote shall not be counted.

Rotation of Directors.

78. At the first ordinary meeting of the company the whole of the directors shall retire from office, and at the ordinary meeting in every subsequent year one-third of the directors for the time being, or, if their number is not three or a multiple of three, then the number nearest to one-third, shall retire from office.

79. The directors to retire in every year shall be those who have been longest in office since their last election, but as between persons who became directors on the same day those to retire shall (unless they otherwise agree among themselves) be determined by lot.

80. A retiring director shall be eligible for re-election.

81. The company at the general meeting at which a director retires in manner aforesaid may fill up the vacated office by electing a person thereto.

82. If at any meeting at which an election of directors ought to take place the places of the vacating directors are not filled up, the meeting shall stand adjourned till the same day in the next week at the same time and place, and, if at the adjourned meeting the places of the vacating directors are not filled up, the vacating directors, or such of them as have not had their places filled up, shall be deemed to have been re-elected at the adjourned meeting.

83. The company may from time to time in general meeting increase or reduce the number of directors, and may also determine in what rotation the increased or reduced number is to go out of office.

84. Any casual vacancy occurring in the board of directors may be filled up by the directors, but the person so chosen shall be subject to retirement at the same time as if he had become a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last elected a director.

85. The directors shall have power at any time, and from time to time, to appoint a person as an additional director who shall retire from office at the next following ordinary general meeting, but shall be eligible for election by the company at that meeting as an additional director.

86. The company may by extraordinary resolution remove any director before the expiration of his period of office, and may by an ordinary resolution appoint another person in his stead : the person so appointed shall be subject to retirement at the same time as if he had become a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last elected a director.

Proceedings of Directors.

87. The directors may meet together for the despatch of business, adjourn, and otherwise regulate their meetings, as they think fit. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In the case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A director may, and the secretary on the requisition of a director shall, at any time summon a meeting of the directors.

88. The quorum necessary for the transaction of the business of the directors may be fixed by the directors, and unless so fixed shall (when the number of directors exceeds three) be three.

89. The continuing directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body, but, if and so long as their number is reduced below the number fixed by or pursuant to the regulations of the company as the necessary quorum of directors, the continuing directors may act for the purpose of increasing the number of directors to that number, or of summoning a general meeting of the company, but for no other purpose.

90. The directors may elect a chairman of their meetings and determine the period for which he is to hold office; but, if no chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the same, the directors present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

91. The directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit; any committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers so delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on them by the directors.

92. A committee may elect a chairman of their meetings; if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the same, the members present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

93. A committee may meet and adjourn as they think proper. Questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present, and in case of an equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

94. All acts done by any meeting of the directors or of a committee of directors, or by any person acting as a director, shall, notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such directors or persons acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a director.

Dividends and Reserve.

95. The company in general meeting may declare dividends, but no dividend shall exceed the amount recommended by the directors.

96. The directors may from time to time pay to the members such interim dividends as appear to the directors to be justified by the profits of the company.

97. No dividend shall be paid otherwise than out of profits.

98. Subject to the rights of persons, if any, entitled to shares with special rights as to dividends, all dividends shall be declared and paid according to the amounts paid on the shares, but if and so long as nothing is paid up on any of the shares in the company dividends may be declared and paid according to the amounts of the shares. No amount paid on a share in advance of calls shall, while carrying interest, be treated for the purposes of this article as paid on the share.

99. The directors may, before recommending any dividend, set aside out of the profits of the company such sums as they think proper as a reserve or reserves which shall, at the discretion of the directors, be applicable for meeting contingencies, or for equalising dividends, or for any other purpose to which the profits of the company may be properly applied, and pending such application may, at the like discretion, either be employed in the business of the company or be invested in such investments (other than shares of the company) as the directors may from time to time think fit.

100. If several persons are registered as joint holders of any share any one of them may give effectual receipts for any dividend payable on the share.

101. Notice of any dividend that may have been declared shall be given in manner hereinafter mentioned to the persons entitled to share therein.

102. No dividend shall bear interest against the company.

Accounts.

103. The directors shall cause true accounts to be kept—

Of the sums of money received and expended by the company and the matter in respect of which such receipt and expenditure takes place, and
Of the assets and liabilities of the company.

104. The books of account shall be kept at the registered office of the company, or at such other place or places as the directors think fit, and shall always be open to the inspection of the directors.

105. The directors shall from time to time determine whether and to what extent and at what times and places and under what conditions or regulations the

106. Once at least in every year the directors shall lay before the company in general meeting a profit and loss account for the period since the preceding account or (in the case of the first account) since the incorporation of the company, made up to a date not more than six months before such meeting.

107. A balance sheet shall be made out in every year and laid before the company in general meeting made up to a date not more than six months before such meeting. The balance sheet shall be accompanied by a report of the directors as to the state of the company's affairs, and the amount which they recommend to be paid by way of dividend, and the amount, if any, which they propose to carry to a reserve fund.

108. A copy of the balance sheet and report shall, seven days previously to the meeting, be sent to the persons entitled to receive notices of general meetings in the manner in which notices are to be given hereunder.

Audit.

109. Auditors shall be appointed and their duties regulated in accordance with sections one hundred and eight and one hundred and nine of the Companies (Consolidation) Ordinance, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force.

Notices.

110. A notice may be given by the company to any member either personally or by sending it by post to him to his registered address, or (if he has no registered address in the colony) to the address, if any, within the colony supplied by him to the company for the giving of notices to him.

Where a notice is sent by post, service of the notice shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, prepaying, and posting a letter containing the notice, and unless the contrary is proved to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

111. If a member has no registered address in the colony and has not supplied to the company an address within the colony for the giving of notices to him, a notice addressed to him and advertised in a newspaper circulating in the neighbourhood of the registered office of the company, shall be deemed to be duly given to him on the day on which the advertisement appears.

112. A notice may be given by the company to the joint-holders of a share by giving the notice to the joint-holder named first in the register in respect of the share.

113. A notice may be given by the company to the persons entitled to a share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a member by sending it through the post in a prepaid letter addressed to them by name, or by the title of representatives of the deceased, or trustee, of the bankrupt, or by any like description, at the address, if any, in the colony supplied for the purpose by the persons claiming to be so entitled, or (until such an address has been so supplied) by giving the notice in any manner in which the same might have been given if the death or bankruptcy had not occurred.

114. Notice of every general meeting shall be given in some manner hereinbefore authorised to (a) every member of the company (including bearers of share warrants) except those members who (having no registered address within the colony) have not supplied to the company an address within the colony for the giving of notices to them, and also to (b) every person entitled to a share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a member, who, but for his death or bankruptcy, would be entitled to receive notice of the meeting. No other persons shall be entitled to receive notices of general meetings.

Meetings of Creditors and Contributories.

- (1.) The meetings of creditors and contributories shall be held within twenty-one days after the date of the winding-up order, or within such further time as the Court may approve, unless a special manager has been appointed in which case such meetings shall be held within one month from the date of such order, or within such further time as aforesaid.
- (2.) The Official Receiver shall summon the meeting by giving not less than seven days' notice of the time and place thereof in the Gazette and in a local paper. Notice of such meeting shall also be sent by post to every person appearing by the company's books to be a creditor of the company and to every member of the company.
- (3.) The Official Receiver shall also, as soon as practicable, send to each creditor mentioned in the Company's statement of affairs, and to each person appearing from the company's books, or otherwise, to be a contributory of the company, a summary of the company's statement of affairs, including the causes of its failure, and any observations thereon which the Official Receiver may think fit to make; but the proceedings at any such meeting shall not be invalidated by reason of any summary or notice required by these rules not having been sent or received before the meeting.

- (8.) For the purpose of voting, a secured creditor shall, unless he surrenders his security, state in his proof the particulars of his security, the date when it was given, and the value at which he assesses it, and shall be entitled to vote only in respect of the balance (if any) due to him after deducting the value of his security. If he votes in respect of his whole debt he shall be deemed to have surrendered his security, unless the Court on application is satisfied that the omission to value the security has risen from inadvertence.
- (9.) A creditor shall not vote in respect of any debt on or secured by a current bill of exchange or promissory note held by him, unless he is willing to treat the liability to him thereon of every person who is liable thereon antecedently to the company, and against whom a receiving order in insolvency has not been made, as a security in his hands, and to estimate the value thereof, and for the purposes of voting but not for the purposes of dividend to deduct it from his proof.
- (10.) It shall be competent to the Official Receiver or to the liquidator, within twenty-eight days after a proof estimating the value of a security as aforesaid had been made use of in voting at any meeting, to require the creditor to give up the security for the benefit of the creditors generally on payment of the value so estimated, with an addition thereto of twenty per centum. Provided, that where a creditor has put a value on such security he may, at any time before he has been required to give up such security as aforesaid, correct such valuation by a new proof, and deduct such new value from his debt, but in that case such addition of twenty per centum shall not be made if the liquidator requires the security to be given up.
- (11.) The chairman of the meeting shall have power to admit or reject a proof for the purpose of voting, but his decision shall be subject to appeal to the Court. If he is in doubt whether the proof of a creditor should be admitted or rejected, he shall mark the proof as objected to, and shall allow the creditor to vote, subject to the vote being declared invalid in the event of the objection being sustained.
- (12.) A creditor or contributory may vote either in person or by proxy.

(17.) A proxy shall not be used unless it is deposited with the Official Receiver before the meeting at which it is to be used.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication of the following Minute relating to the admission into the Clerical Branches of the Public Service. This notice supersedes Government Notice No. 22 of the 15th July, 1908.

By Command,

CLIFTON GRANNUM,
Acting Government Secretary.

The question of the conditions of entry into the Public Service has recently come under my notice and I find that theoretically they are governed by Sir F. Hodgson's minutes of 30th June, 1908, and 6th February, 1911, but that in practice the former minute is rendered inoperative by the interpretation placed on paragraph 14 which reads as follows:—

"14. No person is to be employed as a Volunteer in any Government Department without the special permission of the Governor, which will only be given when the necessities of the Department require it. Service as a Volunteer will not of itself confer any claim to permanent employment, but any special ability which may be shown, especially in those Departments where the work is more or less of a technical nature, will be duly considered."

2. I called for a return of the admissions to the permanent service since 1st January, 1912, and this shows that of 20 so admitted only four were duly qualified educationally although there are now 7 qualified candidates on the waiting list. Only one of these seven is noted as 'acting' in a Government post. This is owing to the numerous admissions as 'volunteers' of unqualified candidates who are subsequently given permanent appointments. This practice must, I fear, be rapidly lowering the general standard of the personnel.

3. In future before any unqualified candidate is appointed, the list of qualified applicants must be submitted to me with full particulars regarding each person on that list and the reason for passing him over in favour of an unqualified officer.

4. The question of re-instituting an 'entrance' examination will receive consideration as well as the desirability of prescribing an examination to be passed before an officer is qualified for promotion from the lower to the higher branch of the Public Service.

5. The sub-divisions of para II (d) are renumbered (i), (ii) (iii), &c., and 'D (i)' will in future read 'a pass in the Senior Oxford or Cambridge Local Examination in at least five sections of which one must be Latin, Greek, French, or Mathematics.'

6. After 'given' in fourth line of para 13 add 'to those who entered the Service with full educational qualifications and.'

7. At end of para 12 of the Regulations of 30th June, 1908 the words 'Preference will also be given to those who entered the Service with full educational qualifications,' should be added.

8. In para 13 insert after 'efficiency' 'and, if required, on the passing of a strict qualifying examination in the elements of official business. The Governor reserves the right, however, to appoint at any time to a vacancy in the Upper Division any person who shall have obtained when less than twenty-one years of age one or more of the qualifications enumerated in paragraph II.'

9. The Government reserves full discretion to refuse, without any reason being stated, to place any applicant's name on the list of Candidates for employment in the public service, and to remove any name therefrom, notwithstanding in either case the possession of full educational qualifications.

WALTER EGERTON.

A Candidate appointed to a Department will be required to serve a probationary period of six months, which may be extended for a further period of six months, and the appointment will only be confirmed at the end of the probationary period if the Head of the Department is able to report that the candidate has shown himself likely to prove a useful and efficient Public Officer.

PROMOTION.

9. For the purposes of promotion the various Departments of the Service will be treated in the following manner, as regards promotion in the senior classes :—

The Government Secretary's Office,
,, Customs Department,
,, Immigration Department,
,, Department of Science and Agriculture, will stand alone, and the following Departments will be grouped as follows :—

- (a.) Department of Lands and Mines.
Public Work Department.
- (b.) Treasury.
Audit Office.
Post Office.
- (c.) Education.
Local Government Board.
Medical.
Poor Law Commissioners.
Police.
Prisons.
Registrar General.

(d.) Attorney General.

(a.) Promotion in the Fifth and Sixth Classes throughout the Service will be treated inter-departmentally at present, with the exception of the Customs Department.

(b.) All appointments will be made subject to a probation of 6 months.

(c.) All appointments in the senior classes will be decided by seniority and merit and not by seniority alone.

10. Promotion in the Lower Division will usually be in order of seniority, but will in all cases be conditional on the Clerk obtaining from the Head of his Department a certificate of proficiency as a typewriter, or some other equally useful official qualification, as well as a recommendation for good character and general efficiency. Preference will also be given to those who entered the Service with full educational qualifications.

11. Promotion from the Lower to the Upper Division of Clerks will be conditional on the production from the Head of the Department of a certificate of character for zeal, industry, and efficiency, and, if required, on the passing of a strict qualifying examination in the elements of official business. The Governor reserves the right, however, to appoint at any time to a vacancy in the Upper Division any person who shall have obtained when less than twenty-one years of age one or more of the certificates enumerated in paragraph 11.

12. No person is to be employed as a Volunteer in any Government Department without the special permission of the Governor, which will only be given when the necessities of the Department require it. Service as a Volunteer will not of itself confer any claim to permanent employment, but any special ability which may be shown, especially in those Departments where the work is more or less of a technical nature, will be duly considered.

13. Acting service rendered under the rule which requires officers proceeding on leave on full pay to provide for their work without extra cost to the public, will also be considered if it should disclose any exceptional merit in any particular line of work, but no acting service of itself gives any claim to a permanent appointment.

14. There are forty-one clerical and other appointments in the Service open to females. Of these twenty-seven are in the Postal Department (in the Post Office and in the Telephone Branch.) Those in the Telephone Branch enter as unpaid Learners and must be qualified as set forth in the Regulations dated 5th August, 1897. This standard is to be applied in future to all female candidates for Post Office employment. As regards the remaining fourteen who are typists in other Government Departments, it is unnecessary to have any special entrance examination. They will be taken on trial and must prove their efficiency before permanent appointment is conferred.

NOTE.—This Scheme is not to be construed as setting out the intentions of the Governor with regard to the senior appointments, with which generally it is not by this scheme designed to deal; nor is it to be construed to abridge the authority of the Governor with regard to appointments in the Public Service, or to give to any officer a claim to draw any salary not voted on the Annual Estimates.

Approved,

Governor.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 20TH DAY OF AUGUST, 1913.

INCE
versus
WONG.

The following Judgment was read :—

Hill, J. (Acting): This is an appeal from the decision of a Magistrate who declined to grant a new trial to the plaintiff (appellant) under section 32 of Ordinance 11 of 1893, holding that that section was inapplicable.

The facts which led up to this application are peculiar. The plaintiff filed a claim on 29th May, 1913, in the Petty Debt Court against the defendant who resides at Anna Catharina.

Plaintiff was informed that in consequence of the defendant residing at Anna Catharina, the return day, following the usual practice, would not be the following Thursday, i.e., the 5th June, but the subsequent Thursday, i.e., the 12th June. Through some error the case was called on 5th June, and, naturally, neither plaintiff nor her counsel appeared, but defendant's solicitor, Mr. Dias, represented at the moment by Mr. Sampson, appeared, although it would seem the defendant himself was not present, and the case was struck out for non-appearance on part of plaintiff, and a fee of $10 awarded defendant's solicitor.

In no way does plaintiff or her counsel appear to have done anything but what was required of them to be done. In answer to this Court as to how anyone at all came to be in the Petty Debt Court in this matter on the 5th June, seeing that the summons was not returnable until 12th June, it was stated by counsel for the respondent that the notice-board at the Petty Debt Court showed the case as for hearing on 5th June, and that the case-jacket was also marked 5th June, although altered afterwards to 12th June. This, in some way, may account for the appearance of the defendant's solicitor, or rather the Solicitor representing him, although Mr. Dias ought to have been aware that his client's summons was returnable only on 12th June, and not on 5th June.

In the opinion of this Court, there was nothing before the Magistrate on 5th June, on which he could adjudicate. He, so far as the hearing of the case was concerned, had no power, except by joint consent of the parties, to enter on the case on that date. An action is instituted by a plaintiff lodging with the Clerk of the Court a statement in writing of his claim, and then the Clerk of the Court issues a summons directed to the defendant requiring him to appear at a "certain time." In this case that "certain time" was the 12th June, and the Magistrate could not, except by joint consent, deal with the matter before that date, and in striking out the claim, and awarding a fee acted ultra vires. The cases referred to in the argument before this Court, do not apply therefore. These facts must have become apparent when application was made for a new hearing, and it is difficult to understand that there should have been opposition on the part of the defendant to such new trial, when it was shown that the striking out of the claim, and award of a fee, was due to an error for which plaintiff or her counsel were in no way responsible.

It is not the duty of members of the legal profession to snatch at fees whenever they get a chance, especially when they know that that chance has arisen not merely through an error of which they might, under certain circumstances, legitimately take advantage, but through an error which a word from them might have put the Magistrate right.

It would have been more in accordance with what should be right and proper among practitioners for defendant's solicitor, his client having been summoned for the 12th June, to have pointed this out to the Magistrate, when he saw the case on the notice-board for 5th June, and, if he was unable to do so himself, to have so instructed Mr. Sampson, who represented him.

There was either a suppressio veri by defendant's Solicitor, or a bona fide mistake on his part, and the latter alternative is negatived by the opposition shown to the application for a new hearing.

This Court will do what is just, and directs the Magistrate's original order to be set aside, and the case to be re-entered for hearing and determination, and, under the circumstances, grants to the appellant the costs of this appeal.

SIR,

With reference to my despatch "Miscellaneous" of the 8th of August last, I have the honour to inform you that at a meeting of the Permanent Sugar Commission which was held at Brussels on the 26th and 27th of May last, the delegates considered the question of the Form of Certificate to be given after the 1st of September next in respect of the exportation of Refined Sugar from the United Kingdom to the Contracting States.

"Je certifie par le présent que le sucre désigné dans le tableau ci-annexé, et destiné à être exporté pour , est le produit d'une raffinerie où les opérations s'accomplissent sous le contrôle des autorités douanières du Royaume-Uni, et que les sucres bruts employés dans sa fabrication proviennent exclusivement d'Etats de l'Union sucrière ou de pays qui n'ont pas été déclarés par la Commission permanente instituée par la Convention internationale des Sucres comme accordant des primes à la production ou à l'exportation des sucres."

(Texte Anglais.)

"I do hereby certify that the sugar of which particulars are stated in the schedule annexed hereto, destined for exportation to , is the product of a refinery at which the operations are carried out under the control of the customs authorities of the United Kingdom, and that the raw sugar employed in its manufacture originates exclusively in States of the Sugar Union or countries which have not been declared by the Permanent Commission established by the International Sugar Convention to give bounties on the production or exportation of sugar."

Minute by the Comptroller of Customs.

Honourable Government Secretary.

As the United Kingdom has withdrawn from the Convention, and as this Colony places no countervailing duties on bounty-fed sugar the certificate is of no importance as far as we are concerned.
